Zach Zimprich reported that he finished up dormant grass seedings earlier this month. He commented that he had a really cooperative fall weather wise and the dormant seedings went smoothly. Zach started cutting cedar trees as soon as he was finished with the dormant seedings, and he is currently busy with that. Zach also reported that he attended a private land fire summit today (Dec. 18) held at Cedar Shore. Topics discussed included: the importance of fire on the landscape, successes from other states regarding the topic, challenges currently faced, and plans for the future. Zach reported it was a very good turnout and several BBCD board members attended the meeting.

Larry Wagner reported that the South Dakota Grassland Coalition elected 3 new board members at their annual meeting held in Rapid City this year.
